New Editor Shows . . . Wrath?

Trumpet staff members Katie Maahs and Jack Eden tremble in fear of the wrath (or umbrella?) of Green Issue Editor Mary Krohlow.

Results from the March 27 testing were compiled and finalists were notified this week, according to Victor Pinke, admissions director.

Journalists Win Writing Awards

Claudia Strum and Linda Braathun, two Roland High School seniors, were named winners of Wartburg College's annual Journalism Writing Contest. The contest was held as part of the Spring Visitation Day program Wednesday.

Each will receive an award of $100 which is applicable to second semester tuition next year. Both seniors will begin work on student publications here next fall.

Faculty Adds Members, Summer Changes Made

Appointments of two new faculty members for next year's staff and two changes in the summer school staff were announced last week by Dr. John O. Chellevold, dean of faculty.

Dr. Alexander Nadesan will replace Dr. Gordon Means as lecturer in political science for the summer session, it was announced.

Nadesan has finished work towards his Ph.D. and will be granted that degree from the American University, School of International Service, in Washington, D.C.

He served two years with the State Department as an interpreter.

Lectures Will Be Given

In addition to his summer teaching schedule, Nadesan will deliver two public lectures on American foreign policy in Southeast Asia. His first lecture will be concerned with Viet Nam, whereas the second lecture will deal with other areas in Southeast Asia.

Other changes in the summer school staff will be Dr. Edilberto Tiempo, who will replace the Rev. Neil Eckstein as instructor of Communication Skills. Eckstein will go to the University of Pennsylvania, where he will complete work toward his doctorate.

Opening convocation for the summer session will be Tuesday, June 8, beginning at 9:25 a.m.

New Instructors Announced

New instructors for next year include Mrs. Margaret Lindberg as instructor of English and Neal

K. Winkler as director of elementary education and assistant professor of education.

She has completed residence requirement at the University of Wisconsin for her Ph. D. She has also completed course requirements, has had her dissertation outline accepted and has passed her completion examinations.

and is principal of Crest Haven School in Waterloo.

He was graduated from Wartburg in 1953 where he received his B. S. degree. The following two years were spent with the adjutant general corps and infantry in Korea. In 1961 he was awarded his M. A. from the State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls.

Lindberg

Winkler

Past experience includes two years as part-time English instructor at Carthage College, Carthage, Ill., and two years as part-time instructor at the University of Maine, Orono. She is presently a full-time instructor at the State College of Iowa with her husband.

The Lindbergs have three children.

Winkler is elementary consultant for Waterloo Public Schools

Past experience includes teaching positions at Burlington and Waterloo. In 1960 he was elementary principal of Orange Township School.

Winkler is active in church council and parish education. He replaces Miss Stella Austerud, who will retire at the end of the current school year.

Winkler is married and has two children.

Editor Linda Stull Relinquishes Position; Entire Trumpet Staff Goes Into Mourning

By MARY KROHLOW

Two more issues and Trumpet Editor Linda Stull will relinquish her post. However, Linda will not leave the staff completely.

"I'm going to write the humor column part-time next year," she said.

Then she added with the typical Stull sarcasm, "If I have any humor left after this year."

Next year is going to present a problem for the retiring editor. She doesn't know what she is going to do with her Friday nights, as they have always been spent doing makeup for the paper. However, she does say that she is open for suggestions.

Stull To Try Studying

"Maybe I'll study for a change," she suggested after thinking the matter over for a while.

Linda also plans to try out for one of next year's plays and will be secretary of the Homecoming Committee, so she shouldn't have too much trouble staying busy.

Despite all of the work, Linda has managed to become involved in a few other activities this year.

One of her greatest achievements has been serving as catcher in the fabulous Krohlow-Stull battery for Centennial in the Women's Recreation Association softball tournament. Unfortunately, the team lost its only game.

Putting out the Trumpet is serious business to Editor Linda Stull who is apparently quite engrossed in her work. Linda will step down from her post after this year's two remaining issues.

Linda is a farmer's daughter from Alta Vista. Her mother, a nurse; two younger sisters; and a brother, who is entering Wart-to teach or to enter the field of journalism.

When asked what she would teach, she characteristically replied, "Whatever they let me."

"Get things done the beginning of the week," were Linda's words of wisdom to next year's staff. "If you don't, Fridays can get pretty hectic."

Editing the Trumpet has been a valuable experience, according to Miss Stull.

Editor Meets Many

"You get to know and appreciate a lot of people, especially the administration, whom you would never know otherwise."

Before coming to Wartburg, where she joined the Trumpet staff her freshman year, she had never had any newspaper experience.

"In high school I got kicked off the news staff. I never got my column in on time, so one day the editor got mad and fired me," she explained.

Stull Looks At Year

Asked whether anything humorous had happened during her years on the staff, the comedian in Linda replied, "No, it's mostly been tragic."

Before returning to her usual occupation of thinking of tricks to play on her friends, the retiring editor had one parting comment to make, "Regardless of what anybody says, I still like Iowa."

Editorial

New Editor Claims Chair

Taking over the editor's chair is quite a task! In the first place, it is made of wood and quite uncomfortable. Actually, it involves a great deal of work and frustration. Most people don't realize how much time goes into putting out the Trumpet. The editor alone spends at least 25 hours a week working for you--the readers.

How many of you have ever taken a second to thank Linda Stull for her work? Did you ever think of telling her you thought her editorial was really good or you enjoyed the paper? Just a few words of gratitude can make the whole thing worthwhile.

Editor Receives Reprimands

Instead, the editor hears the bad side of everything. If someone's name is left out or spelled wrong, the first thing he does is reprimand the editor. The editor is forced to accept criticisms and develop a strong shield so that it just bounces off. The moral of this is if you want to become calloused, be Trumpet editor for a year. Don't try it for two years; you might become inhuman.

Maybe you should tell Linda how good you think the paper has been this year. You might be able to bring her back to the realm of the uncalloused. Besides, the Trumpet might not be as

They should have known better than to schedule Visitation Day on the day of a baseball game. It ALWAYS rains.

This certainly is an institution of higher learning--all the books we want are on the top shelves of the stacks.

A "Temple of Venus" is just what students need for all the prayers preceding finals.

It seems that lately classes are held only when there is nothing else to do.

Who needs an alarm clock any more? Our buddies working on the new dorm roll in at about 7 each morning with air hammers, welding torches, semi-trailer trucks and sledge hammers. Thanks a lot, fellows.

Letter To The Editor

WJC Gives Special Lates

To the Editor:

There has been some question of late in regard to the matter of student responsibility. It seems to me that students have at the present time, first and foremost, a responsibility to Wartburg College and all that enrollment in this institution entails.

For the time during which a person is a student here, he is obligated to his duties in this sphere. It is only after he has provided for the fulfillment of these obligations that he is to assume other or additional responsibility.

One example of fulfilling responsibility to the college and then to another party occurs in the area of women's employment. Women students either meet their hours or make provision for a later returning time by taking a late.

The college even helps in this matter by making available to the students special lates, such as babysitting lates, which are over and above the number of regular lates each girl has.

It is, however, the woman's responsibility to avail herself of them. When this small precaution is taken, much inconvenience is avoided.

good next year. Who knows? Of course, a new editor can always be knocked down a few pegs, too.

Next year could prove to be an exciting year. There'll be a new editor to callous. A new student body president with progressive ideas could be fun, too. All you have to do is show lack of interest, and that'll get to him. A great deal of interest has been shown during the last few weeks, but that will just fatten him up for the kill. Let him have his fun now. You can always take care of him next year. All that has to be done to make student government ineffective is to lose interest.

Can Government Be Effective?

Wouldn't it be something if students came back next year with the same enthusiasm that is present now? Who knows? Student government might actually be effective.

Will students keep their interest in student government? Will the next editor be a success, or will she be forced to become the usual calloused editor? Will she find a more comfortable chair? For the answers to these and many more questions, stay tuned to this same place next year, when you will view another year in the life of Wartburg College.

Excitement Invades Career

By DICK McCABE

For those of you that are color blind this paper is different. The reason I'm writing two weeks in a row is because of what the editor calls her covenant with me, and the sign thereof is my being from the neck up which remains status quo only if I push my literary drooling to its maximum point of satiety.

My social immobility at Wartburg hit a rut this week and a little excitement invaded my college career. Visitation Day opportunely the neglect of school without the guilt complex McCabe that normally follows me around campus on weekdays.

At 9:15 Wednesday morning I got up for my 8 o'clock class, and after leisurely not making my bed, I headed over to the Den for a little protein-deficiency filer.

I checked my dust-infested mailbox in hopes of finding something giving evidence to the fact that someone at home might have realized I'd left home last fall. No luck.

On the way back to the dorm I was stopped by the lone member of the campus gestapo, Officer Shinn, who, by wearing bermudas and a black belt, was disguised as a midget judo expert.

Grabbing me by the whole of the neck and shaking vigorously, he questioned me about who had been digging "that great big hole" next to Clinton Hall.

To avoid being picked up on charges of resisting arrest, subordination and impersonating the Easter Rabbit and conduct unbecoming of a student being strangled by a fake midget judo expert, I waited the 15 seconds until he was exhausted and explained that I couldn't have done anything because bananas were going at 6¢ a pound in Utah.

Kingston Trio Shows Versatility, Spirit In Folk Singing Concert

By LINDA STULL

Playing to a near capacity crowd Sunday evening, the Kingston Trio demonstrated their versatility in folk singing with enthusiasm and high spirits.

Singers Nick Reynolds, John Steward and Bob Shane performed for the Spring Pops Concert in a program full of familiar songs as well as some with which the audience was not familiar.

To what do they attribute their success?

Health Creates Success

"Health habits," Bob commented, while Nick, usually considered the leader of the group, said, "Enjoying what you do."

Apparently the members of the Kingston Trio do enjoy what they do. They said that they like performing for college crowds because they are more enthusiastic and become more involved than audiences on the night club circuit.

"We aren't on tour as much as we used to be," said John. "We are usually gone only two or three weeks, in contrast to the longer tours we used to make."

Trio Tours Iowa

The Trio spent most of the past week in Iowa, playing for various college functions, including an appearance at William Penn College, Oskaloosa, and at Iowa State University, Ames.

The Wartburg Trumpet

Satisfied, he holstered his fanner fifty and walked off.

Back at the dorm the housemom informed me that President Bachman wanted to congratulate me on providing the needed funds for the new Science Hall out of my indemnity fee.

So overwhelmed at the thought of not muffing something, I dropped my Emily Post autographed skateboard on a case of empty pop bottles. The shattering glass resulted in some nervous professor sprinting over from the Fine Arts Building with an invitation to join the Wartburg Marching Band.

In the afternoon several notable things happened that will help to glorify the lies I'm going to tell my grandchildren. First I flunked the literacy test required in voting for senators.

Then I ran down to the clinic for some salt tablets for my roommate's dislocated shoulder. Finally I went over to the office to see if it was true that Cotta House had classified Steve Reeves 4F and rejected his admittance application.

I went to the library after what non-Wartburgers call dinner, checked over all the articles of the Geneva Convention and found out that there wasn't anything concerning punishment for roommates who horde animal crackers sent from home, so I'm out of luck.

At a quarter past Gunsmoke I got an anonymous phone call from my dad informing me that my cat had died and was now on his way to the Big Sandbox in the sky. I was so distraught that I went down to Roy's without any Bro-mo, ate and ran back. It's what Bertha Nightingale terms as a gastric suicide attempt.

Nightime found me tucked in bed waiting for the sandman to come in and smash me, tears running down my face in anticipation of the last day I'd get to play with my fetal pig in biology class. Ten-four!

"We thought perhaps the belief that folk singing was losing popularity was true for a while," said Nick. "But this tour has indicated that it is still as popular as it ever was."

Enthusiastic audiences have also welcomed the Trio in several foreign countries. They have appeared in Japan, Hong Kong, England and other places, but have not yet toured Europe.

"The English, as well as audiences in the other countries we've visited, are particularly enthusiastic about folk music," said Bob.

Singers Like Beatles

All three singers indicated their approval of rock and roll music. They especially like the Beatles and believe that good rock and roll music is here to stay.

New album, "Stay Awhile," by the Kingston Trio will be released next week.

Evidence of the humorous side of the group came Sunday evening when John Stewart was asked to make a station promotion for KWAR-FM.

Said John, "When I listen to KWAR-FM, 89.1 on the radio dial, I know I'm in Iowa!"

Musical Receives Praise; Production Called Success

By DENISE NORMAN

Audience response was good for last night's production of "Oklahoma." The Wartburg College Theatre in conjunction with Castle Singers presented the musical comedy, which deserves considerable praise.

"Oklahoma's" plot involves the well-known love story between Curly, portrayed by John Bitner, and Laurey, played by Bev Hoveland. In the beginning the couple finds it difficult to express their sincere love for one another.

Circumstances develop, the consequences proceed, love is revealed and the obvious "happily ever after" occurs.

Main Characters Do Well

Main characters of Curly, Laurey, Ado Annie, Andrew Carnes, Aunt Eller, Ali Hakem and Jud Fry were interpreted beautifully.

Freshman John Bitner as Curly did an excellent job. His lead in "O What A Beautiful Mornin'" set the trend for the rest of his performance.

Sophomore Bev Hoveland did a fine job in emphasizing Laurey's meekness. However, Bev needed more freedom of movement while she sang. She should have become more involved in her part but on the whole did a good job.

Alumni Honor Grads

Two Wartburg alumni will be honored by the Wartburg College Alumni Association on May 27. The alumni are Dr. William H. Wehrmacher, a cardiologist from Chicago, and the Rev. Fred J. Downing, pastor of an interracial parish on Chicago's Near North Side.

Each will be presented with a Wartburg Alumni Citation during the Association's annual Sunset Supper, to be held at the Waverly Methodist Church.

Dr. Wehrmacher and Pastor Downing are both graduates of Waverly High School.

Cardiology Is Specialty

Currently an Associate in Medicine at Northwestern University Medical School, Dr. Wehrmacher is a specialist in cardiology and a consultant for Chicago's U. S. Veterans Administration Research Hospital and Passavant Memorial Hospital.

Dr. Wehrmacher's latest book, "Pain in the Chest," climaxes several years of writing for professional journals, panels and clinics, including papers be-

Junior Karen Goodno did a fantastic job as expected in her role as Ado Annie.

Convincing acting was turned in by freshman David Suby as Andrew Carnes. He played the role of a typical old man to the extent of real humor. Throughout his performance, he held the audience in the palm of his hand.

Sophomore Ruth Persig as Aunt Eller and senior Dave Hutson as Ali Hakem played fairly good roles. Much of it, however, was too "off the cob."

Jud Played Vividly

Jud, a somewhat off-balanced gentleman, was expressed vividly through senior Jim Gronewald's portrayal.

Another character of significance was Will Parker. Sophomore Al Lyndrup played the part well, however tended to overplay somewhat.

Much of the play was too slapstick, with too much force on the mid-western twang. The play was generally a little too broad.

Example Is Given

For example, when Jud is killed the audience doesn't fully realize the pathetic qualities in Jud's death.

Spectator opinion and reaction is not what it should have been. Therefore, it can be said that the true value of the actors' roles should have been made more obvious to the viewers.

Technical aspects of lighting, make-up and settings enhanced the spirit of the performance. Technical errors caused some distraction, but the cast capably managed to involve the audience again.

Musical Portion Is Good

Dr. Fritschel, the Castle Singers, and the orchestra should be commended for a wonderful musical production.

Choice of actors and actresses by Director John Gill was extremely intelligent. Freshmen John Bitner and David Suby and sophomore Bev Hoveland were given experience to develop their promising potential for future Wartburg Theatre productions.

All in all, it was a truly successful presentation.

Final performance of the musical comedy "Oklahoma!" starring sophomore Bev Hoveland as Laurey and freshman John Bitner as Curly will be tonight at 8.

Press Banquet Featured Bachman As Guest Speaker Tuesday Night

Featured speaker at the annual publications banquet Tuesday night was Pres. John W. Bachman. Following his address, both old and new editors of the Trumpet, Fortress and Castle and station manager of KWAR-FM gave brief talks.

Bachman's address centered around the general theme for the press banquet, "The republic and its press will rise and fall together."

Fortress awards were given to staff members by Editor Marvin Ackerman. Recipients of awards were Linda Morse, Third Year; Douglas Langholz, Second Year; and Sue Kell, Jean Biere, John Schmeltzer, Gary Williams, Dennis Montet and Lorrie Funemark, First Year.

Stull Presents Awards

Trumpet Editor Linda Stull gave Second Year awards to Gary Olson, Sue Kell, Mike Becker, Dee Fulwider, Katie Maahs, Dianna Grau and David Wegenast.

Bill Glitz, Dale Wehling, Jean Biere, Tom Reuss, Mary Krohlow, Jim Folkerts, Jack Eden, Jon Becker, Roger Anderson, Mike Zolnosky, Ed Roach and Pat Rundhaug received First Year awards.

Other awards given were Editor Keys to Linda Stull and Marvin Ackerman; Business Manager Keys to Bob Holdorf and Nels Beckman; and Managing Editor Key to Jane Voigts.

Both Are Active Alumni

Both men are active in alumni work. Dr. Wehrmacher participates in the activities of the Chicago alumni chapter and is a member of a special alumni committee raising funds for Wartburg's proposed science hall.

Pastor Downing has been an alumni chapter officer and is working through his alma mater to promote scholarships for needy Negro students.

The Executive Committee of the Alumni Association selected the two for citations.

Best Story Award was presented to Linda Stull while the Graduating Senior Award was given to Helene Kurtz Stadtmauer, in absentia.

APG Sponsors Banquet

Four new members were added to the Beta Delta Chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma in a formal ceremony before the banquet. Students accepted into Alpha Phi Gamma are sophomore Katie Maahs and juniors Mary Krohlow, Dale Wehling and Bill Glitz. Membership in Beta Delta now exceeds one hundred.

Alpha Phi Gamma sponsored the annual Publications Banquet.

Inside Senate

1965 Senate Begins Duties

By SUSAN KELL

First session of Student Senate 1965 opened with a combination of new faces and old, perennial problems, future challenges and, hopefully, better solutions.

Bill Hamm sounded confident as he welcomed the newly elected senators and looked forward to a successful year in student government.

"Last year was excellent," he said, "one on which we can build. I think we can have a real fine year."

A variety of topics was discussed and acted upon, ranging from cheerleading camp to the election of fall pops concert chairman.

Cheerleading Camp Discussed

What about the cheerleading camp? Marg Freeland, who was sent to cheerleading camp at Lake Geneva, Wis., last summer, mentioned that she thought it had been beneficial. After some discussion it was decided to table the motion until a future meeting.

The 1965 Homecoming Chairman, Dave Wegenast, was officially recognized. Dave was commended for his work in past homecomings.

Hamm Recommends Three Pops Concerts

Bill Hamm recommended that there be three pops concerts next year instead of two. Reaction was immediate. Can we afford it? Will we draw enough audience? The few for it argued that we could pay for it and if good entertainment was offered and publicity greater, our audience would increase.

Some of the senators weren't against the idea of having three pops concerts but felt the school couldn't afford three major pops concerts.

One of the senators said, "Could we have two big ones and one little one?" Proving that there can be an element of humor even at a senate meeting, one of the senators suggested that the third concert be called a "popette."

Two Are Better Than Three

It was finally decided to have two major pops concerts, one at the beginning of the year and the other at the end of the 1965-66 term.

The "popette" would be held in conjunction with a campus social event such as the prom or Snow Weekend. It would be a smaller concert in that the price of the performing group would be less but the quality of performance would be high.

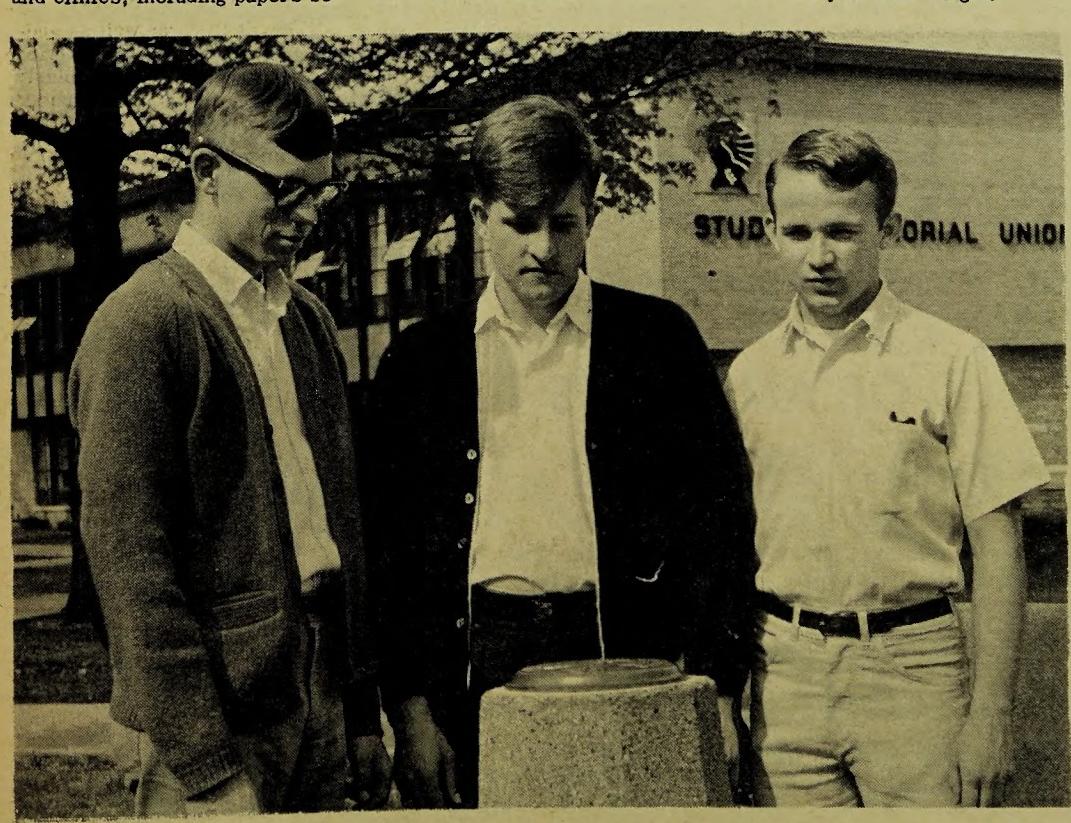

Russell Talbot, a freshman from Streator, Ill., was elected pops concert chairman for the 1965 fall pops concert.

Senate Discusses Honor System

More information on the honor system being proposed for Wartburg will be released after Senate discusses the matter at its next meeting. This proposal should generate student interest.

After the meeting proper, chairmen for the standing committees were chosen by the executive council. Results are as follows: sophomores Larry Pleggenkuhle, Development; Laird Yock, Social Activities; and Jim Lubben, Student Welfare. Juniors are Liz Seidel, Academic Life; Marg Freeland, Pep Commission; and Roger Prehn, Student Action. Freshmen chosen are Sandra Moeller, Constitution; and Richard Bringewatt, Elections.

If any student has an opinion or idea regarding any of these areas, he may contact the chairman or the members of the committee concerned, it was announced.

Presidents To Restore Sundial

By demand of the Dry Run sun worshippers, new class presidents Junior Roger Prehn, Sophomore Larry Pleggenkuhle and Freshman Lu Ahrens have pledged to restore Wartburg's broken sundial to avoid future cases of extreme sunburn.

W-Club Chooses Holland As Athlete Of The Month

By HARRY JEBSEN

When asked what his life ambitions are, Athlete of the Month Les Holland replied, "I'd like to be a rich professional golfer."

Les is a sophomore from Lake Mills. The six-foot, 195-pound Business Administration - Economics major has been playing golf for eight years. To make the beginners on campus feel good, Butch shot a 66 for the first nine holes he played.

For finishing second in the state high school tournament in 1963, Butch received a scholarship from the Iowa State Golf Association. He is still receiving the benefits of this scholarship.

When asked how it felt to be

Athlete of the Month, the golfer replied, "It is a great honor to be chosen for this award." Teammate Bob Miller chipped in, "Why not? He deserves it!"

Les was medalist in the State NAIA tournament with a fine 72 over the dried-out Waveland Course at Des Moines. Butch will have the opportunity to play in the national tournament if he can get the money to make the trip.

Les Posts Low Scores

Other results which contributed to his being chosen April Athlete of the Month are a 72 in the Iowa Invitational Tournament, a 75 against the University of Dubuque at Waverly Country Club and a 77 against Luther at Decorah.

Butch admires Arnold Palmer most among the professional golfers. His game resembles Palmer's also, for he is long off the tee and a bold putter.

When asked about training, he admitted that golf does not take much in this line, but he does do isometrics and pushups with his golfing roommate Leigh Pietsch. He also sleeps quite a bit and does a fair job of eating.

Butch Plays 9 Holes A Night

At home during the summer, he keeps his game up with at least nine holes a night after working at a local factory. His parents live on the first fairway of the Rice Lake Golf and Country Club, where his father is head greenskeeper.

Holland thinks that the Knights' chances of winning the conference this year hinge on consistency. The team has not been consistent at all thus far, and has shown little signs of working out of this inconsistency.

Les said that he feels that "The team has been strengthened by a stronger reserve team. This has kept the team members on their toes, for they can not afford to be lax at any time."

The BILLboard

Prognostications Given

By BILL GLITZ

Since Mike Becker's column has almost become a tradition on this campus, I hope you will pardon the intrusion. Mike will be back next week at the same old stand, but since he does hope to corral his sheepskin come the last week in May someone must try to step into Mr. B's shoes.

My first duty as a columnist is a pleasant one. I must take a paragraph out to doff the cap to the gentlemen of the Wartburg coaching staff. These men have been nothing short of completely helpful and cooperative during my year as Sports Editor of the Trumpet. A hearty "thank you" for making this year an enjoyable experience.

And now to the questions on everyone's mind: What about next year? Where is Wartburg headed in sports?

After gazing into the crystal ball—the one that Becker passed on to me—I will now prognosticate (a sportswriter's term for guess).

Sept. 19—Coach Bondhus takes 49 minutes and 30 seconds telling about his football team in convocation. John Kurtt talks for 30 seconds on cross country.

Sept. 20—John Kurtt refuses to appear at any more Wartburg convocations.

Oct. 5—Simpson College comes onto the Schield Stadium football field and thinks that their game with Wartburg was scheduled for Indianola when the Redmen see the empty seats.

Oct. 28—Gene Takle of Luther wins the Iowa Conference cross-country crown and shoots 2 below par on the Waverly Golf Course at the same time.

Nov. 16—North Hall wins the I. M. football championship and credits it to clean living and outstanding conditioning.

Nov. 28—Wartburg football is announced as the only athletic endeavor which did not outdraw the Milwaukee Braves.

Dec. 14—John Hearn knocks an opponent into the ticket booth. Dec. 26—Wartburg has a basketball game scheduled in Timbuktu so the players can spend Christmas with one another.

Jan. 17—There is a basketball game and a wrestling meet scheduled at Knights Gym on the same night.

Jan. 19—St. Joseph's Hospital sets up a special ward for those participating in I. M. basketball.

Feb. 8—Coach Oppermann calls the United States Weather Bureau and asks for a long-range forecast for April and May.

Oppiemen Drop 2 Games, Bounce Back Against SCI

By JACK EDEN

After suffering two stifling defeats at Upper Iowa University, Fayette, Saturday, the Oppiemen bounced back strong to humiliate State College of Iowa, Cedar Falls, to the tune of 5-2 on the Knights' own field Wednesday.

Junior Lynn Butterbrodt started pitching and gave up two runs. He was replaced in the third inning by senior Doyle Burn with SCI leading 2-0. In the bottom of the fourth, Mantey knocked a double down the third-base line, driving in one Wartburg run.

Things really started popping in the sixth inning. A throwing error by SCI second baseman Roger Nelson and a long double by Wartburg second baseman Denny Salzman produced four Wartburg runs.

Burn Gets Win
Doyle Burn was the winning pitcher, and Roger Baumgardner mopped up from the seventh inning on. Juniors Lowell Grunwald and John Mantey went two for four in the batter's box.

It was a different story against the Peacocks, though. In the first game the Knights bowed out 5-4 after leading 4-1 after five. Dave Walters, opening pitcher, gave up only one run before going into the sixth inning.

Inning Proves Disastrous

This inning was disastrous for the Knights. They were plagued by errors while the Peacocks came out of it with four runs to their credit. Walters was credited with the loss and Burn finished the game.

Second game wasn't much better. Knights, still plagued by errors, dropped this one 8-3. Freshman John Hearn pitched the first two innings and gave up only one run. The game was tied at the end of two.

Coach Earnest Oppermann then sent in junior Terry Fairchild, veteran hurler, in the third. A series of errors again gave the Peacocks four runs. Baumgardner relieved Fairchild, and Bowmen finished the game.

Wartburg currently has a record of 2-3. Knights face Buena Vista here today in a double-header. They then travel to Decorah for two next Tuesday, and on the following day the Oppiemen return to Waverly for their final home game against Iowa Wesleyan.

Married Men Capture I-M Championship

Bill Anderegg of Married Men captured the intramural badminton championship Thursday night. Married Men dominated the competition, finishing one, two for the tournament.

Tournament was on a double elimination basis. Each of the participants was removed from the contest after two defeats.

In the final match, Jerry Schrader was behind, having lost one set previously. Contrary to expectations, Schrader was able to even the match by handing a loss to Anderegg. This tie was resolved in the final match when Anderegg placed a shot close to the net and Schrader failed to reach the shuttlecock.

Linksters Lose In Quadrangular

Defeat came to the Wartburg linksters at the hands of Loras, Illinois State University and State College of Iowa at a quadrangular meet at Waterloo.

Les Holland led Wartburg's unsuccessful golfers in the scoring column with a 79. Bob Miller came in a close second with an 81 while Norm Luttinen was third with an 85.

Wartburg was defeated by Lorras with a score of 11 1/2 to 3 1/2, by SCI with a score of 14 to 1 and by Illinois State University by a score of 12 1/2 to 2 1/2.

High school and college students braved threatening rain and a stiff breeze as they watched Mankato State College, Mankato, Minn., edge out Wartburg from first place in a quadrangular track encounter here Thursday.

Final tabulations showed Mankato with 81 points, Wartburg 73, Iowa Wesleyan 12 and Upper Iowa 9.

Both Hutson and Becker Evaluate Culture, Year's Important Program

By SUSAN KELL

In the midst of the excitement following his election in the spring of 1964, Dave Hutson commented, "This is something I've hoped and planned for a long time. I'm going to put forth all the effort for this office that I can."

Mike Becker, newly elected student body vice president, remarked that he was, "thrilled and honored. It's just too bad one person has to lose."

A year has passed since the above statements were made, and on May 13 Dave and Mike will officially step down from their positions. Committee work, senate meetings, reports, conventions, speeches and snowball fights have made the year a busy one.

Both Are Experienced

Both men have worked in student government since their freshman year. Dave was a senator first semester of that year and president second semester. He represented the sophomore class in Senate and was elected president of the junior class.

He has worked on the Academic Life, Student Welfare and Social Activities committees. This year he also was chosen president of the Iowa College Student Government Association.

Mike was sophomore senator and has been a member of the Social Activities, Intramural and Constitutional Revisions Committees. He represented the student body on the Faculty - Student Council. He has also been chairman for various social activities such as Snow Weekend.

Cultural Emphasis Important

How does one evaluate the accomplishments of a short, one-year term? Both Dave and Mike agreed that cultural emphasis was one of this year's more important programs.

Mike noted, "I think the cultural trips and the art displays added something to the campus."

Dave specifically mentioned the appointment of a director for the cultural exchange program and pay for student body officers.

Association Mentioned

Dave also mentioned the Iowa Conference Student Government Association.

"At the present time the group is only concerned with co-ordinating pops concerts," Dave said, "but various exchanges may be developed. An example of the group's work is the presence of the Soviet attache on campus today."

Moments Recalled

Even student body officers have moments they particularly remember. Dave was silent for a few moments and then said, "Speaking at the inaugural dinner was a honor for me."

Mike smiled and retorted, "Taking over for two days for Dave was memorable. I found out how busy he really is!"

"I appreciated the cooperation of students this year," Dave said, "I have been pleasantly surprised at the interest shown. Everyone asked to do something has done it willingly."

Students Apathetic?

Are Wartburg students apathetic? "It is difficult to say but students are interested," Dave contended, "If the issue is big enough there is a response."

"They are afraid to run for office, I think, because they don't want to become involved. I suspect that there is a relationship between the social-economic background and interest. There isn't an overflow of natural-born leaders."

"Wartburg students aren't that apathetic," Mike added, "That's just a word that is thrown around."

Student Body President Dave Hutson has willing help of Vice President Mike Becker as he cleans out his office for incoming SBP Bill Hamm.

They don't want to risk themselves and maybe don't feel strong enough to become involved."

Evaluation Big Issue

One of the biggest issues on campus in recent months was and still is the question of student faculty evaluations.

"It would be better if the evaluations could be seen as student evaluations," Dave said. "It is not the last word concerning a faculty member. Faculty have individual rights which have to be considered."

"Evaluations should be a help for the faculty," Mike continued, "their purpose is not just to be critical."

"Wartburg students aren't that apathetic," Mike added, "That's just a word that is thrown around."

six southern German concerts June 25-30.

One of the tour's highlights will be the two concerts to be presented in West Berlin on July 2 and 3.

Before leaving on the tour, a home concert will be given May 22 in the Chapel-auditorium at 8 p.m.

Another highlight will be the opportunity to sing on the Special Events Program of the United States Pavilion at the New York World's Fair. The engagement came at the invitation of the Honorable Norman Winston, U.S. Commissioner of the Fair.

Robert J. Lux Is Speaker For SEA Meeting Monday

Robert J. Lux, chairman of the English Department at Charles City Senior High School, will speak at the last Student Education Association meeting of the school year. The meeting will be held Monday, May 10, in the Chapel-auditorium, beginning at 7:45 p.m.

say, I was very surprised," said the lovely brown-eyed blonde.

Carmen Has Two Sisters

Carmen is the daughter of Mrs. Elmer Berg. She has two sisters. One is in nurses' training in Des Moines and could not attend the pageant. Renee, her younger sister, is 13.

"I couldn't believe my mother after the pageant," she said. "Mother always says, 'Whether win, lose or draw, remain calm.' I was calmer than she was. My sister was almost getting radical over the whole situation."

Plans for Carmen's summer include working in Jersey City as a social worker. There she will teach Christian Day School and conduct discussion groups with young people and adults.

Miss Berg Will Be In East

"I'm very eager about going East. I'll be only 10 miles from the World's Fair and will get to go there while in Jersey City.

"My main concern now is the Miss Iowa Contest. I'll be on the East Coast during the pageant. But I'm not going to worry about that yet. This contest is enough of a shock," she commented.

A gifted young lady, Carmen did the famed sleep-walking soliloquy of Lady Macbeth from "Macbeth" for her talent competition. She also has avid interests in art of any form, piano and all types of music.

"When I got back to the dorm afterwards, they were waiting for me," the new Miss Waverly said.

"They had big signs all over the place and had decorated the halls and my room with lots of paper and stuff. They were all so sweet and so excited."

Interested In Luther League

Other outside interests of Carmen include active Luther League work. At present she is on the Iowa District Luther League Board.

"I got to go home for our meeting Sunday and of course I wore the corsage I had received. Since girls just don't receive orchids for every occasion, they asked about it. I just told them I was in the Miss Waverly contest and let my mother and sister take it from there," she said.

Winner Thanks Jaycees

Miss Berg also added, "I would like to thank the Jaycees and their wives for all they did for the other girls and me during the pageant. They were just great."

As a final comment the new queen said, "I'm still so excited. It's such a letdown to come back to school, to come back to earth and to have to feel human again."

Freshman Coed Carmen Berg was crowned Miss Waverly 1965 last Saturday evening. She will represent Waverly at the Miss Iowa pageant this summer.

Ristau, Matthias Surrender Positions As Student Government Officials

By SUSAN KELL

"Wartburg's student government is tops compared to other schools of the same type," commented retiring student body treasurer Arlyn Ristau.

Barb Matthias, who is leaving her position as student body secretary, agreed and added, "At the conferences we have attended we have found our student government to be among the best in the small Iowa colleges."

Perhaps two of the best reasons for Wartburg's successful student body administration are its efficient secretary and treasurer, Barb Matthias and Arlyn Ristau.

Barb, a business education major from Pomona, Calif., has been a member of Business Students Association, Student Education Association, the Fortress staff and secretary of Women's Athletic Association.

She was a senator for the first semester of her freshman year and has literally "cheered" for four years as a member of the Wartburg freshman and varsity cheerleading squads.

Ristau, from Nora Springs, is majoring in general science. He has been a member of Tri-Beta and secretary - treasurer of Vollmer House.

Arlyn Is Sports Enthusiast

Active in campus sports, he has participated in cross-country and baseball and has served as vice president of W-Club. Arlyn also has worked on the Social Activities Committee.

Being an officer of student government can be hectic and harried and keep the officers busy with a lot of work.

"It comes in streaks," Arlyn said. "You won't be busy for weeks at a time, and then five or six bills will come in. The end of the month is usually the busiest."

Barb Spends Busy Year

"I was generally busy all year," Barb remarked, "busier than I thought I'd be. On the average I spent about one hour a day in the office. Ending up activities, like the final report, are especially busy times."

Getting the work done has often required ingenuity and patience. For example, this year students will receive a handbook concerning student government, thanks to Barb and the key to Mr. Fredrick's office.

She Works Overtime

"I had to get the key from Mr. Fredrick," Barb explained, "and had to work on the handbook at night, in the morning before the secretary came and during the noon hour."

Both students acknowledged that they had enjoyed this past year, even if it had been rushed at times.

"It got to be pretty hectic when I didn't find out about something in time," recalled Arlyn. "I remember Snow Weekend. Money to pay the Snow Weekend band had to be borrowed from the student body treasury, and I didn't find out about it until the Saturday morning!"

Job Is Worth It

"But it's great to be able to do something like this," he continued. "I had never done anything like it before, and it was a valuable experience."

"The treasurer's office was often really helpful. They never complained when there was a mistake, and I couldn't find it. Sometimes it was my mistake, sometimes theirs, but they always helped me look for it."

"Sometimes it got too laborious," Barb admitted, "but mainly it was fun working with people and being able to get inside student activities."

Working With Dave Is Fun

Everyone was helpful, and it was fun working with Dave. A lot of business was done at the senate meetings, but they were enjoyable too."

Arlyn believes that students are not always aware of how the money in the student body treasury is spent by the senate. One example of this is the purchase of furniture for the office of the student body president, which was paid for completely by the student body.

Barb Matthias and Arlyn Ristau have spent a wonderful, challenging year as student body officers. Both they and the student government of Wartburg College have profited by their work.

Seniors Barb Matthias and Arlyn Ristau fulfill final obligations as student body secretary and treasurer. New officers will be installed this week.
